ABOUT ME

As a Full Stack Developer at Jasur Dev Company, I develop and implement advanced caching mechanisms using technologies such as JavaScript, React.JS, TypeScript.JS, and Next.JS. I design and implement distributed technology systems, achieving scalability and high performance using architectural best practices. Currently, I am taking a bachelor's degree in Computer Engineering, IT - Service, InformationSecurity, Multimedia Technologies at Tashkent International University of Education, where I study software development, data structures, algorithms and databases.
